

Mark Williamson

Hometown: Nashua, NH

Workplace: Pilot

Alma Mater: U Minnesota Twin Cities

Degree: Business and Philosophy

Mark Williamson was born in Nashua, New Hampshire in 1985. Throughout his life, Mark has been fascinated by planes. Spending most of his childhood at a park across from the local airport, Mark developed an interest in flying airplanes. At the age of 16, he began taking flying lessons.

Currently, Mark is a pilot for United Airlines. He began flying the direct flight from San Francisco to Hong Kong, but has since decided to take up new routes every few months. Because of this change, Mark is constantly on the go, seeing new places around the world. While he loves his job, Mark tends to get bored at his layovers in country's abroad. Being the extremely social person he is, he enjoys going to a bar at the end of a day and chatting up people, but knowing what to talk about has always been a challenge.

Likes:

- Food
- Margaritas
- EDM music
- Sending his friends funny videos on twitter

Dislikes:

- Spaghetti
- Bad texters
- Cats

Desires:

- To be able to relate to people from other places
- To know what's trending
- Start his own private airline

Bio Data:

- Age: 34
- Income: Middle Class
- Pets: Two Cats